

Integration with MXLIMS must be done by individual applications setting up their own data mappings and conversion code, either through JSON files or using some implementation of the MXLIMS API. The reference Python API provided includes code to save and load in to MXLIMS Message files